5. In early March, the Panzer Kaserne in Tinz was occupied to capacity by an estimated 230 troops wearing artillery, tank and motor transport insignia. [redacted] the installation quartered an armored school and/or an armored engineer school which was definitely connected with the barracks installation in Zeitz, as was indicated by heavy vehicular traffic between the two installations. The instructors at the school were permanently stationed there. Students were rotated to and from the school about every 6 weeks. On 2 March, 2 SU-100 guns were observed. Training included construction of emergency bridges in the area behind the installation. The bridges were passed by tanks.²

1. Comment. [redacted] the 308th Arty Brig [redacted] is confirmed in Gera until 11 February 1954 [redacted]

2. Comment. The unidentified tank training unit of the Eighth Gds Army is confirmed in the Panzer Kaserne in Tinz [redacted]. There are several indications that this unit engaged especially in armored engineer training. No information on a connection of this unit with the Zeitz post, i.e. the 20th Gds Mech Div, has so far been received. It is possible that armored and engineer personnel of the individual divisions of the Eighth Gds Army were rotated to the school and that a course of the 20th Gds Mech Div started in early March.
